

TRAINING OPTIONS

What training option is right for me?

Picking which training option will work best for you and your dog can be stressful! Luckily, Blue Prints staff is here to help make that decision a lot easier. Below we have listed the different services we offer and what each service entails. We have also included pricing and any prerequisites there may be.

Group classes:

For owners who are looking to work on basic obedience cues in a more distracting environment than your home, group classes are a great option. In our obedience classes we teach the important foundation cues such as sit, down, stand, stays, leave-it, recall, loose leash walking, and more! In Basic 1 we start teaching those cues from the beginning stages and start adding distance, duration, and distraction in Basic 2 and Intermediate. Dates and more information on these obedience classes can be found on our website under Training → Classes & Packages.

- Basic 1: 4 weeks, 1 hour each week, $140
 - Basic 2: 4 weeks, 1 hour each week, $140
 - Intermediate: 5 weeks, 1 hour each week, $150
- } $260 if purchased together ($20 disc.)

We also offer more interactive classes such as Scent, Agility for Fun, Click-a-trick, Rally Obedience, and we create different classes almost every year! These classes require that you complete Basic 1 & 2 or an equivalent Basic Obedience class to sign up. Prices vary for these classes. Dates and pricing can be found on our website under Training → Specialty Classes.

Training Packages:

Training Packages are our drop-off training option. These packages can be tailored to fit each owner and dog's needs. Our most common package focuses are building confidence, leash reactivity, proper greetings with people/other dogs, and loose leash walking. But as previously stated, this training option can be whatever you want it to be! Each 4 hour block of training is $200 + tax and comes with 3.5 hours of training and 30 minutes of 1-on-1 time with the trainer. Training packages are almost always paired with a Private Session to make sure the training is being generalized at home as well.

Private Training Sessions:

Private training is an ideal option if you are looking to fix a specific problem, need more time with our trainers, or require a more flexible schedule. Blue Prints offers the options of holding the private sessions in our facility or in your home. Both in-home and in-facility private training sessions are 90 minutes for the first sessions and 60 minutes for any sessions after that. These sessions guide you step-by-step on how to shape behavior, what equipment to use, and how to better understand your dog's needs. Understanding why your dog is acting the way they are and what their true motivators are is pertinent information when moving forward with training. For in-home sessions it is $150 for the initial session and $100 for those following. For in-facility sessions it is $135 for the initial session and $90 for those following. All prices are subject to tax. Included in the private session is an in depth email about what behaviors the trainer observed and how to continue the training that was demonstrated at home.
